Congratulations AUSA Sunshine Chapter—Job Well Done!

Presidents Message

Sunshine Chapter Members:

For the Sunshine Chapter, 2009 began with the chapter's continued support to our Soldiers and the Soldier community. In January we saw the 143d Sustainment Command Expeditionary deploy about 250 Soldiers to Afghanistan (within the next few weeks we will be sending care packages to these Soldiers). We also held two General Membership Meetings in January, providing our members and the community with some professional development and an update on our local military organizations at TechNet 2009 and the Combined Professional Associations Group.

Most recently the chapter has been involved in supporting Recruiting Command as they establish a grassroots program to bring our community together with its Army. Additionally, we have provided over $12,000 in scholarships to our members and/or their dependents.

In April, several members of the Executive Committee traveled to Huntsville, Alabama for Third Region Meeting. The Chapter was honored by the Third Region President, John Rogers, as he announced that the Sunshine Chapter had been selected as the Best Medium Size Chapter in the Third Region. I feel honored that the Sunshine Chapter has been identified as a chapter of excellence. I realize that this honor comes about because a team of devoted members chose to serve our Soldiers and the Soldier community – from the heart. And, that makes me very proud!

In the coming months we will celebrate Armed Forces Day and the Army's Birthday. At the Army Birthday Ball, the chapter will honor several wounded warriors and celebrate the Year of the NCO. With the help of Sunshine Chapter volunteers and the contributions of our corporate and individual members, our chapter will continue its service to our Soldiers. Thank you all for your generous support and hope to see you at one of the upcoming meetings.

With deepest respect,

Mary Trier

THALES

Thales Training and Simulation (TTS) has more than 50 years of experience in the simulation of military and commercial aircraft, both fixed wing and rotary, land vehicles, ground weapon systems, synthetic environments and Distributed Mission Operations. TTS has developed training technology and systems to meet the training needs of over 30 military services worldwide including the US Air Force. TTS supports the Air, Ground, and Naval forces of many countries and provides integrated and networked training solutions to many other customers worldwide.

For Land Forces Training, Thales has produced and delivered more than 300 armored vehicle gunnery and driving simulators, including tanks and complete combat and joint force training centers. Thales has provided equipment for both individual and collective interoperable training environments. Many devices are fitted with Thales' electric motion system, which was developed specifically for driver training applications, and Thales' Thalesview Visual Systems. Thales has also developed and fielded simulation systems for infantry small arms training, MOUT applications, artillery systems and anti-aircraft/anti-tank missiles. Indeed, Thales is also the world leader in the use of collimated visual systems for small arms trainers.

Thales has nearly 100 full-mission helicopter and over 200 fixed wing aircraft simulators in service, including fast jet, tanker, reconnaissance and military transport aircraft.

UCF Iron Knight by: Douglas Alexander

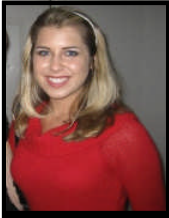

The jumpmaster made his final checks and surveyed the drop zone one last time for any issues or concerns. Nothing; the conditions were perfect. It was a perfect morning for HALO (High-Altitude Low Opening) operations for the elite team of SOCOM Para-Commandos. The cool, wintry air rushed into the belly of the aircraft and added to the feeling of exhilaration felt by all of the commandos as they prepared to exit the berthing of the aircraft on the morning of January 24, 2009. "Go, Go, Go", the jumpmaster shouted. One at a time, yet seamlessly, the jumpers exited the aircraft and began their descent towards the drop zone from 12,500 feet above the ground.

AUSA Sunshine Chapter Scholarship Award Winners

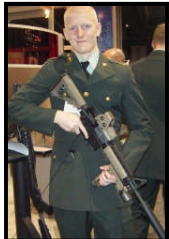

Meghan Fierko

Meghan Fierko is a sophomore attending the University of Florida in Gainesville where she is Majoring in Finance. She is also pursuing a Minor in the Classics and Mass Communication. She is a member of both the Florida Women in Business and the Florida Leadership Academy, where she was selected as one of the top 100 business students in the Warrington College of Business. She currently holds an internship of the University of Florida Performing Arts Center and serves as the Social and Outreach Committee Chair for Ideal. She is scheduled to graduate in May 2011. Ms. Fierko was awarded $2500.

Kia Miller

Kia Miller is currently a senior at Timber Creek High School. In the fall she will be attending the University of Central Florida and become a part of their nationally ranked UCF cheerleading team. She plans on majoring in Pre-Professional Biology with hopes of going on to Pharmacy school. In her spare time this year, Kia participated in Varsity weightlifting, All-star cheerleading, Student Government Association and National Honor Society. She also enjoys working part time as a Karate Instructor! Ms. Miller was awarded $1500.

Luke Hopper

Luke Hopper just finished his first year of college and his first year of ROTC at UCF. He decided to put college on hold for a short time to join the 53rd infantry brigade of the Florida National Guard as an 11B infantryman. His intention is to go on a deployment with the unit before returning to UCF and commissioning active duty through ROTC. Luke Hopper was awarded $1000.

Woman overcomes odds, commits to UCF's Army ROTC By Crystal Potts, UCF

Despite all odds, one woman's determination helped her fulfill her innate patriotic duty. "I'm just a born soldier," said Betty Martin, 68. "I'm a born patriot. I sit up all the time and thank God for my freedom in this country." After eight years in the Army Reserve, Martin is again in her niche as the office manager of UCF's Army ROTC. She has seen hundreds of cadets go through the program in her 20 years of employment. She brings her life experiences, her determination and her patriotic responsibility to her position, setting a daily example for the cadets. According to Martin and the cadets, she sees hope in them, and they see a hard worker in her.

Martin was born with spina bifida, a condition defined by a cleft or split in the spinal cord. At 8 months old, Martin received an operation to correct the condition. Her doctor said that if she lived past 8 years old, she would have a full life. After being homeless for one-and-a-half years, Martin was placed in Midway College, previously a school for orphans. She lived there for seven years and fell in love with the school's systematic and disciplined lifestyle. This love coupled with her desire to serve her country, and led her to apply to the Army Reserve.

Martin applied at age 34, after being denied a year earlier because of her spina bifida, and was accepted due to "a clerical error." A six-week training regimen at Fort McClellan in Anniston, Ala., was then crammed into a two-week intensive session. Because her doctor did not deaden all of the nerves around the operation site, Martin endured agonizing pain as she fulfilled her goal.

Was the previous paragraph the introduction to the newest Tom Clancy novel? Not at all, it was an introduction for the UCF Army ROTC 2nd Annual Iron Knight Adventure Race held at Lake Claire and throughout the beautiful UCF campus. The elite Para-Commandos mentioned earlier were the United States Special Operations Command Parachute Team that marked the beginning of the competition by jumping with the U.S. flag while the National Anthem was sung by the Para-Commando's official soloist.

Once all of the team members hit the ground, The Command Sergeant Major of US SOCOM, CSM Thomas Smith (an active member of the Para-Commandos) spoke to the competitors and spectators about the extraordinary servicemen/women of USSOCOM along with the benefits and incentives of military service. After he spoke, CSM Smith called the first teams to the starting line, put them on their marks, gave the command of "Go" and started the official race time clock.

This year's Iron Knight Adventure Race was co-sponsored by The Sunshine Chapter of AUSA, Army Aviation Association of America (AAAA), Northrop Grumman, Skyventure Orlando, USAA, CrossFit Evolution and LA Fitness and featured a newly designed course that started at Lake Claire and stretched out over four miles throughout the scenic UCF campus. The redesigned course featured eight individually challenging stations that had to be completed by each member of a four-person team.

This year's course included: Pushups, Sit-ups, Equipment Carry, Pull-ups, Mental Games (Scenario Based Critical Thinking), Downed Pilot, Tire Flip and Humvee Push. The 2nd Annual Iron Knight Adventure Race was run by Cadre and the Cadets of the UCF Army ROTC "Fighting Knights" Battalion and was supported by local Army Reservists and Florida Guardsmen. The increasing popularity of the event went so well, that we exceeded 40 teams and had to close down the registration process.

The various teams consisted of a wide range of competitors. The Corporate and Pro teams were a welcomed addition to the Junior ROTC and college student categories. Next year, with the continued support of the Sunshine Chapter, the Fighting Knights will expand the Adventure Race to add new obstacles and accommodate even more teams in one of the most productive and popular recruiting events that the battalion conducts.

Team Orlando Combined Professional Association Defense Forum

Breakfast by Fred Eisele

The Sunshine Chapter of AUSA joined with the other Central Florida Combined Professional Associations Group (CPAG) hosted the Team Orlando Combined Professional Association Defense Forum Breakfast which was held on January 8, 2009.

This 9th Annual CPAG Breakfast is sponsored by the Orlando Area Defense Professional Associations and the Sunshine Association of the United States Army (AUSA) Chapter, which was represented by President Mary Trier. The organization includes the Army Aviation Association of America (AAAA), Air Force Association (AFA); Central Florida Armed Forces Communications and Electronic Association (AFCEA); American Society of Military Comptrollers (ASMC Marine Corp Foundation (MCF); International Council on Systems Engineering (INCOSE), International Test and Evaluation Association (ITEA); Military Officers Association of America (MOAA) National Center for Simulation (NCS), National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA); National Contracts Management Association (NCMA); and Central Florida Council Navy League of US (NLUS).

Team Orlando speakers included COL Ken Wheeler (USA), DPEOSTRI; CAPT Harry (Smokey) Robinson, (USN) CMDR Naval Air Warfare Center Training Systems Division, COL Frank Kelley (USMC), PM TRAINING SYSTEMS, and Col James Spanky Dennis, Cmdr. AFAMS (USAF). CPAG Council Chair Fred Eisele advised the audience that the Council of Presidents/Vice Presidents has quarterly meetings to exchange information on upcoming chapter events and discuss best ways to avoiding conflicting association events. Team Orlando speakers provided an overview of their organization's as well as their representative service's activities. A common thread was that there are tremendous changes going on in the Acquisition process as well as distributed and integrated training for the Coalition Warfighter is a central focus.

The 2009 Retiree News by Bo Terry

A good source of information for the Retiree/Veteran community can be located at the following web sites:

My Sun Country: <http://www.mysuncountry.com/vets/vets-links.htm>

AUSA: <http://www.ausa.org/programs/RetireeAffairs/RetireeNews/Pages/default.aspx>

The "mysuncountry" site is focused on areas of interest for those retirees and veterans whom live in Central Florida, while the AUSA site is more of a general overview for Retirees and Veterans.

The Retiree Services Office (RSO) at Ft. Stewart will again host the Central Florida Retiree Appreciation Day (RAD) this year that is tentatively scheduled for the 2nd or 3rd week of August. The specific time and location is still to be determined and will be posted on the above websites as well as the Sunshine Chapter web site when confirmed.

TECHNET 2009

Orlando, FL

The of the U.S. Army Association Sunshine Chapter and the AFCEA Orlando-Central Florida Chapter co-sponsored TechNet Orlando for the eighth year in January. The symposium focused on C4ISR & Training Challenges of Rebalancing the Force with special emphasis on Rebalancing the Force, which is a top priority of the services and overcoming the challenges related to C4ISR, to include CYBERWAR, as well as the merger of Training and Testing in the global war on terrorism. In his welcoming remarks,

Dr. Jim Blake of PEO STRI welcomed senior officials and cited the importance of this annual TechNet Symposium in providing a forum to address the many challenges the services face in transforming the Joint War fighter, and bringing new technology to bear in the Global War against Terror.

Mrs. Mary Trier makes opening association remarks on Day-2

LTG David P. Fridovich (USA) Dir. Center for Special Operations USA SOCOM meets with MG Greg Schumacher (USA) Asst DA DCS G-2, COL Dave Lockhart (USA) PM ITTS & Jerry Sirmans DPM ITTS

Thank You and Farewell LTC, Pat Connors

The AUSA Sunshine Chapter says thank you, farewell, and good luck to our Senior VP for Programs, LTC(P) Pat Connors. Recently selected for promotion to Colonel, Pat will report to his new assignment on 1 July 2009 in the Washington, DC area. He will be the G-3/5/7 (Chief of Operations/Plans/Training) of the newly formed Warrior Transition Command under BG Gary Cheek.

The Warrior Transition Command (WTC) is a new 1-star command under US Army Medical Command (MEDCOM) that serves as the organizational focal point for the Army's Warrior Care and Transition Program (WCTP). The WTC synchronizes and synergizes the WCTP and the many programs and initiatives that benefit wounded, ill and injured Soldiers and their families, and helps sustain an integrated, comprehensive continuum of care and services that is consistent Army wide.

The WTC consolidates three existing offices/agencies involved in Army warrior care: the Warrior Transition Office (WTO), previously under MEDCOM; the Army Wounded Warrior Program (AW2), previously under Human Resources Command; and the Warrior Care and Transition Office (WCTO) previously under the Office of the Chief of Staff, Army. On 1 April 2009, the WTC became a provisional command under MEDCOM, with a fully operational capability (FOC) date planned for 1 October 2009. The combining of these organizations will have a dynamic impact on the future success of the Army's Warriors in Transition, either back to the force or to the civilian community.

Although Pat will live in DC, he will continue to call Orlando his home. His wife, Karen (also a member of the Sunshine Chapter Executive Committee), will remain in Orlando and continue to work for SAIC as a Deputy PM for the OneSAF Program. We wish Pat and Karen all the best.

AUSA Corporate Member, Citrus Club, to Host Armed Forces Appreciation Night

by Jan Drabczuk

Join AUSA's Sunshine Chapter Corporate Member, Citrus Club, as they host the Armed Forces Appreciation Night 19 May 2009, from 6:00-800 pm.

This is the seventh year that the AUSA and the Citrus Club will hold this event. Last year we invited our sister groups, Central Florida service organizations, the Air Force Association (AFA), the Central Florida Council Navy League of US (NLUS), and the Central Florida Marine Corps Foundation (USMC-F) to also attend. In 2009 we will once again make this a Joint event with these organizations.

The Citrus Club will be sending formal invitations to each of our AUSA members and we hope to see a good number of members at this event. It is great to have such an outstanding corporate member supporting AUSA. Please RSVP directly to the Citrus Club at 407 843-1080 for this event.

PEO STRI NEWS by LTC Scott Pulford

The PEO is tracking 3 change of charters coming this summer.

COL Dave Lockhart will change out with COL Mike Zarbo for PM ITTS - target CoC date is 13 AUG 09
COL Zarbo is a PEO STRI alum from PM TRADE so he is very familiar with Team Orlando!

LTC Rob Rasch will change out with LTC Hector Acosta for PM OneSAF – 1 JUL 09.

LTC Gary Stephens will change out with LTC Mike Newell for PM ACTT - CoC date is 31 AUG 09. LTC Newell is currently working at Special operations Command in Tampa, FL.

Both LTC Stephens and LTC Rasch have the opportunity to stay with the PEO for an additional year. Gary will backfill LTC Scott Pulford in PM Future Force as the DPM and Rob will backfill LTC Bob Hribar as the Director of Joint Coalition Simulation Systems (JCSS) in PM CONSIM.

COL Chris Oliver has made it through 9 months of his deployment to Iraq and was recently seen in the PEO area back on R&R leave. He should return (for good) this Summer (o/a 1 JUL) just in time to PCS to Ft Monroe.

Mr. Joe Giunta was selected as the Principle Assistant Responsible for Contracting (PARC) with his duty effective on 16 MAR. Joe has spent the last 3 years as the PEO STRI Strategic Integrator and prior to that he served as a Product Manager in PM CATT (PM GCTT – Hooah!). Congratulations Joe!

Upcoming Promotions:

LTC Scott Pulford and LTC Pat Connors were both selected for promotion to COL back in NOV 08. Right now it appears that LTC Pulford will pin on o/a 1 JUN 09 and LTC Connors o/a 1 NOV 09.

"I had a hard time doing it because of my spina bifida, but I made it," Martin said. "I was determined to make it and I enjoyed it. I thoroughly enjoyed my time in the Reserves." After Martin was honorably discharged from the Army Reserve, she eventually moved down to Florida where she became employed with UCF. During the final weeks of the 1987-1988 school year, she attended a ceremonial event, which she felt did not have the proper audience turnout. She expressed her feelings in an April 1988 letter to the Central Florida Future.

"I wrote an editorial protesting the fact that there was no patriotism," Martin said. "That this lack of attendance reflected a lack of patriotism on campus." As a result of that letter, Martin was invited to the Air Force ROTC annual change of command ceremony where Marty Fioramanti, the office manager, told her about the vacant Army ROTC position. Throughout her time with the Army ROTC, Martin has since seen a lot of patriotism in terms of the cadets. Among those cadets was Maj. Brian Fallon, the current ROTC executive officer. He said that her show of patriotism has not faltered over the years. "She is exactly the same as she was back then," Fallon said. "She flies the American flag every day; she wears it on her heart. She believes in it with all of her heart, no matter what's going on with the country: good, bad, ugly." Those who know her agree with Fallon.

"She's all about getting her work done," said Jacob Lawson, a cadet. "At this point, she's not in the Army but might as well be; she does everything to a military standard." Martin is persistent in accomplishing her goals and has been this way since a young age. "She's a go-getter," said Margaret Parrish, Martin's middle school teacher. "She pulled herself up by the boot straps, as the old saying goes," Parrish said. "She kept going and kept moving up. Her experiences gave her the poise and the determination that she's got now."
